

ABSTRACT

[0050] A method of etching metal layers (e.g., niobium (Nb), titanium (Ti), tantalum (Ta), and the like) using a gas mixture comprising a chlorine-containing gas and a fluorine-containing gas is disclosed. The method provides a high etch selectivity for the metal layers over photoresist.